Brunei Calendar 2015

Paul Wasserman,James
Sanders,Elizabeth Talbot Sanders

Brunei Calendar 2015:

Brunei Darussalam International Monetary, International Monetary Fund. Asia and Pacific Dept, 2022-09-16 After successfully weathering the pandemic in 2020 Brunei was hit by new waves of COVID 19 with case numbers going up significantly and new lockdown measures imposed in H2 2021 Reduced activities in mining and LNG manufacturing combined with the negative impact of new pandemic variants on domestic services led to a slowdown in the economy Real GDP contracted by 1.6 percent in 2021 For 2022 growth is projected to rebound to 1.2 percent on the back of easing of mobility constraints and a positive terms of trade shock due to surges in O G prices Inflation while remaining relatively low at 2.2 percent at end 2021 has increased in 2022 and pressures are expected to remain elevated in the short term owing to supply disruptions and higher food and fuel prices The economy continues to diversify with double digit growth of the food agriculture sector and a new fertilizer sector commencing production The risks to the outlook are tilted to the downside due to potential new COVID 19 variants increased global uncertainty associated with an escalation of the war in Ukraine monetary tightening from the US and a larger than expected growth slowdown in China On the upside higher energy prices would further improve the terms of trade and restore fiscal positions in the short term while partially contributing to build the buffers needed to ensure stronger intergenerational equity Strong policy actions are needed to boost medium term growth and foster resilience

The New and Correct Date of the Terengganu Inscription Ahmat Adam,2022-12-06 The Terengganu Stone has generally been accepted as one of the oldest archaeological artifacts for the evidence of the arrival of Islam to Malaysia and Southeast Asia more generally Since its discovery in 1887 the Terengganu Inscription has drawn much interest from scholars of various disciplines Yet in this volume Emeritus Professor Dr Ahmat Adam argues that scholarship on the Inscription has consistently misdated the stone and misrepresented its true content Through philological and historical analysis he argues that the correct date of the Inscription is not 702 H or 1303 A D but 708 H or 1308 A D and that the Inscription also reveals the usage of a unique calendrical system in the early 14th century alongside other clues to the nature of historical Malay society

Case Studies in Biocultural Diversity from Southeast Asia F. Merlin Franco,Magne Knudsen,Noor Hasharina Hassan,2022-07-27 This open access book demonstrates the linkages between local languages traditional knowledge and biodiversity at the landscape level in Asia

providing a fresh approach to discussions on Asia's biocultural diversity. The book carries forward earlier analyses but importantly focuses on traditional ecological calendars, folk medicine, and folk names in the context of the vital importance of maintaining biological, cultural, and linguistic diversity. It does this by addressing a range of cases and issues in relation to Southeast Asia, Brunei Darussalam, Indonesia, Malaysia, the Philippines, and North East India. The several chapters demonstrate the ways in which the various forms of knowledge of the environment and its categorizations are important in areas such as landscape and resource management and conservation. They also demonstrate that environmental knowledge and the practical skills which accompany it are not necessarily widely shared. This book sends important messages to those who care about the sustainability of our environment, the maintenance of its biocultural diversity, or at least the maintenance of what remains of it because much has changed. This interdisciplinary collection draws from a wide range of disciplines and is of appeal to students and scholars in anthropology, environmental studies, geography, biodiversity, and linguistics.
