Chinese Rhyme Prose Burton Watson,2015-01-15 The fu or rhymeprose is a major poetic form in Chinese literature most popular between the 2nd century b c and 6th century a d Unlike what is usually considered Chinese poetry it is a hybrid of prose and rhymed verse more expansive than the condensed lyrics verging on what might be called Whitmanesque The thirteen long poems included here are descriptions of and meditations on such subjects as mountains and abandoned cities the sea and the wind owls and goddesses partings and the idle life Chinese Rhyme-prose Burton Watson,1971

Chinese Theories of Fiction Ming Dong Gu,2007-06-01 In this innovative work Ming Dong Gu examines Chinese literature and traditional Chinese criticism to construct a distinctly Chinese theory of fiction and places it within the context of international fiction theory He argues that because Chinese fiction or xiaoshuo was produced in a tradition very different from that of the West it has formed a system of fiction theory that cannot be adequately accounted for by Western fiction theory grounded in mimesis and realism Through an inquiry into the macrocosm of Chinese fiction the art of formative works and theoretical data in fiction commentaries and intellectual thought Gu explores the conceptual and historical conditions of Chinese fiction in relation to European and world fiction In the process Gu critiques and challenges some accepted views of Chinese fiction and provides a theoretical basis for fresh approaches to fiction study in general and Chinese fiction in particular Such masterpieces as the Jin Ping Mei The Plum in the Golden Vase and the Hongloumeng The Story of the Stone are discussed at length to advance his notion of fiction and fiction theory Classical Chinese Literature John

The Columbia Anthology of Chinese Folk and Popular Literature Victor H. Mair, Mark Bender, 2011-05-03 In The Columbia Anthology of Chinese Folk and Popular Literature two of the world's leading sinologists Victor H. Mair and Mark Bender capture the breadth of China's oral based literary heritage. This collection presents works drawn from the large body of oral literature of many of China's recognized ethnic groups including the Han, Yi, Miao, Tu, Daur, Tibetan, Uyghur, and Kazak, and the selections include a variety of genres. Chapters cover folk stories, songs, rituals, and drama, as well as epic traditions and professional storytelling, and feature both familiar and little known texts from the story of the woman warrior Hua Mulan to the love stories of urban storytellers in the Yangtze delta, the shaman rituals of the Manchu, and a trickster tale of the Daur people from the forests of the northeast. The Cannibal Grandmother of the Yi and other strange creatures and characters unsettle accepted notions of Chinese fable and literary form. Readers are introduced to antiphonal songs of the Zhuang and the Dong who live among the fantastic limestone hills of the Guangxi Zhuang Autonomous Region, work and matchmaking songs of the mountain dwelling She of Fujian province, and saltwater songs of the Cantonese speaking boat people of Hong Kong. The editors feature the Mongolian epic poems of Geser Khan and Jangar, the sad tale of the Qeo family girl from the Tu people of Gansu and Qinghai provinces, and local plays known as rice sprouts from Hebei province. These fascinating juxtapositions invite comparisons among cultures, styles, and genres, and expert translations preserve the individual character of each thrillingly imaginative work.

The Columbia Book of Chinese Poetry Burton Watson, 1984 Important poets such as Tao Yuanming and Wang Wei

Nienhauser, 1986 A veritable feast of concise, useful, reliable, and up-to-date information, all prepared by top scholars in the field. Nienhauser's now two-volume title stands alone as THE standard reference work for the study of traditional Chinese literature. Nothing like it has ever been published. Choice.

The second volume to The Indiana Companion to Traditional Chinese Literature is both a supplement and an update to the original volume. Volume II includes over 60 new entries on famous writers, works, and genres of traditional Chinese literature, followed by an extensive bibliographic update (1985-1997) of editions, translations, and studies, primarily in English, Chinese, Japanese, French, and German.

Recite and Refuse Nick Admussen, 2016-10-31 Chinese prose poetry today is engaged with a series of questions that are fundamental to the modern Chinese language: What is prose? What is it good for? How should it look and sound? Millions of Chinese readers encounter prose poetry every year, both in the most official of state-sponsored magazines and in the unorthodox experimental work of the avant-garde. Recite and Refuse makes the answers to our questions about prose legible by translating, surveying, and interpreting prose poems, and by studying the people, politics, and contexts that surround the writing of prose poetry Author Nick Admussen argues that unlike most genres Chinese prose poems lack a distinct size or shape Their similarity to other prose is the result of a distinct process in which a prose form is recited with some kind of meaningful difference an imitation that refuses to fully resemble its source This makes prose poetry a protean ever changing group of works channeling the language of science journalism Communist Party politics advertisements and much more The poems look vastly different as products but are made with a similar process Focusing on the composition process allows Admussen to rewrite the standard history of prose poetry finding its origins not in 1918 but in the obedient socialist prose poetry of the 1950s Recite and Refuse places the work of state sponsored writers in mutual relationship to prose poems by unorthodox and avant garde poets from cadre writers like Ke Lan and Guo Feng to the border crossing intellectual and poet Liu Zaifu to experimental artists such as Ouyang Jianghe and Xi Chuan The volume features never before seen English translations that range from the representative to the exceptional culminating with Ouyang Jianghe s masterpiece Hanging Coffin Reading across the spectrum enables us to see the way that artists interact with each other how they compete and cooperate and how their interactions as well as their creations continuously reinvent both poetry and prose
