SECTION 17.1 LIQUID WATER AND ITS PROPERTIES (pages 475–478) ◆◆◆

This section explains the hydrogen bonding that occurs in water molecules and how high surface tension and low vapor pressure can be explained in terms of hydrogen bonding.

► The Water Molecule (pages 475–476)

- What unique molecular compound is the foundation of all life on Earth?
water
- Approximately what fraction of Earth's surface is covered in water? 3/4
- Circle the letter next to each sentence that is true concerning water molecules.
  - Each O — H covalent bond in a water molecule is nonpolar.
  - b. In a water molecule, the less electronegative hydrogen atoms acquire a slight positive charge and the oxygen atom acquires a slight negative charge.
  - c. Because the water molecule has an H — O — H bond angle of 105°, the molecule as a whole is polar.
- The diagram below depicts a water molecule. Complete the labels showing the locations of the hydrogen atoms, the oxygen atom, and the regions of positive and negative charge.

- List five important properties of water that result from hydrogen bonding.
  - high surface tension
  - low vapor pressure
  - high specific heat capacity
  - high heat of vaporization
  - high boiling point

Shulgin, 2009-06-17 This book consists of a number of papers regarding the thermodynamics and structure of multicomponent systems that we have published during the last decade Even though they involve different topics and different systems they have something in common which can be considered as the signature of the present book First these papers are concerned with difficult or very nonideal systems i e systems with very strong interactions e g hydrogen bonding between components or systems with large differences in the partial molar volumes of the components e g the aqueous solutions of proteins or systems that are far from normal conditions e g critical or near critical mixtures Second the conventional thermodynamic methods are not sufficient for the accurate treatment of these mixtures. Last but not least, these systems are of interest for the pharmaceutical, biomedical, and related industries. In order to meet the thermodynamic challenges involved in these complex mixtures, we employed a variety of traditional methods but also new methods such as the fluctuation theory of Kirkwood and Buff and ab initio quantum mechanical techniques. The Kirkwood-Buff (KB) theory is a rigorous formalism which is free of any of the approximations usually used in the thermodynamic treatment of multicomponent systems. This theory appears to be very fruitful when applied to the above-mentioned difficult systems.
