The Experience Machine Gloria Sutton,2015-02-13 An argument that the collaborative multimedia projects produced by Stan VanDerBeek in the 1960s and 1970s anticipate contemporary new media and participatory art practices In 1965 the experimental filmmaker Stan VanDerBeek 1927 1984 unveiled his Movie Drome made from the repurposed top of a grain silo VanDerBeek envisioned Movie Drome as the prototype for a communications system a global network of Movie Dromes linked to orbiting satellites that would store and transmit images With networked two way communication Movie Dromes were meant to ameliorate technology s alienating impulse In The Experience Machine Gloria Sutton views VanDerBeek known mostly for his experimental animated films as a visual artist committed to the radical aesthetic sensibilities he developed during his studies at Black Mountain College She argues that VanDerBeek s collaborative multimedia projects of the 1960s and 1970s sometimes characterized as Expanded Cinema with their emphases on transparency of process and audience engagement anticipate contemporary art s new media installation and participatory practices VanDerBeek saw Movie Drome not as pure cinema but as a communication tool an experience machine In her close reading of the work Sutton argues that Movie Drome can be understood as a programmable interface She describes the immersive experience of Movie Drome which emphasized multi sensory experience over the visual display strategies deployed in the work the Poemfield computer generated short films and VanDerBeek s interest unique for the time in telecommunications and computer processing as a future model for art production Sutton argues that visual art as a direct form of communication is a feedback mechanism which turns on a set of relations not a technology vandalism and welfare fraud stood as the prevailing explanations for the arson wave effectively indemnifying landlords Ansfield's book based on a decade of research introduces the term brownlining for the destructive insurance practices imposed on poor communities of color under the guise of racial redress Ansfield shows that as the FIRE industries finance insurance and real estate eclipsed manufacturing in the 1970s they began profoundly reshaping Black and Brown neighborhoods seeing them as easy sources of profit At every step Ansfield charts the tenant led resistance movements that sprung up in the Bronx and elsewhere as well as the explosion of popular culture around the fires from iconic movies like The Towering Inferno to hit songs such as Disco Inferno Ultimately they show how similarly pernicious dynamics around insurance and race are still at play in our own era especially in regions most at risk of climate shocks
