Art, Craft, and Theology in Fourth-Century Christian Authors Morwenna Ludlow, 2020-09-29 Ancient authors commonly compared writing with painting. The sculpting of the soul was also a common philosophical theme. Art, Craft, and Theology in Fourth-Century Christian Authors takes its starting point from such figures to recover a sense of ancient authorship as craft. The ancient concept of craft, ars techné, spans high or fine art and practical or applied arts. It unites the beautiful and the useful. It includes both skills or practices like medicine and music and productive arts like painting, sculpting, and the composition of texts. By using craft as a guiding concept for understanding fourth-century Christian authorship, this book recovers a sense of them engaged in a shared practice which is both beautiful and theologically useful, which shapes souls but which is also engaged in the production of texts. It focuses on Greek writers, especially the Cappadocians Basil of Caesarea, Gregory of Nazianzus, and Gregory of Nyssa, and John Chrysostom, all of whom were trained in rhetoric. Through a detailed examination of their use of two particular literary techniques, ekphrasis and prosopopoeia, it shows how they adapt and experiment with them in order to make theological arguments and in order to evoke a response from their readership. Standard Lesson
