Additional Maths Past Paper 2013:

Education, Privatisation and Social Justice Ian Macpherson, Susan Robertson, Geoffrey Walford, 2014-05-12 The involvement of private actors in education is not new yet in the last decade critical issues have arisen that demand close scrutiny This volume explores emerging forms of the private through case studies from Africa South Asia and South East Asia and makes three related observations First what is new about these manifestations is their scale scope and penetration into almost all aspects of the education endeavour from the administrative apparatus to policymaking and from formal provision in education settings to out of school activities such as private tutoring Second what is particularly controversial about these developments is how education itself is being recast as a sector it is increasingly being opened up to profit making and trade and to agenda setting by private commercial interests Third the learner is increasingly conceptualised as a consumer and education a consumer good The case studies therefore enable us to see more clearly how different forms of the private in education alter what is at stake for whom and with what outcomes and the consequences for individuals and societies In turn these raise the very important question about what they mean for our conceptualisations of education learning and teaching on the one hand and for education as a site and means for emancipation on the other These are profound social justice concerns and ones that make this volume distinctive This book sets out to address these hard but urgent questions and will be of interest to academics and students of education education researchers government personnel and policymakers

The Power of Numbers and Networks Julia Resnik, 2019-07-23 This book is an important contribution to the understanding of the complex education policies of the twenty first century It unites world renowned comparatists of education in an effort to respond to the challenges raised by the multidimensional and multi scalar aspects of education policies In their attempt to decipher the tangled world of education policies the authors underline the power of numbers the power of networks and the power of new concepts and methodologies The power of numbers education through numbers via students assessments and national or international testing impacts upon our educational choices and reinforces its instrumental aspects The power of networks sheds light on the complexity of the education global governance network by focusing on how international governmental organisations IGOs such as UNESCO the OECD and the World Bank carry out policy and on the intricate ways an educational concern becomes part of the international agenda The power of concepts and methods policymaking is increasingly dynamic and involves many different stakeholders including states private corporations IGOs scholars and non profit organisations Contributors to this volume have developed new conceptual and methodological perspectives to study the circulation of educational models worldwide A relational notion of space the concept of diaspora as a space of relations of social actors or the global comparative approach and a methodology drawn on actors network theory are among the propositions yielded by the authors in order to make sense of and grasp the complexity of education policies today This book was originally published as a special issue of Globalisation Societies and Education
