3D-Printed Body Architecture Neil Leach,Behnaz Farahi,2018-02-01 Some architects dream of 3D printing houses Some even fantasise about 3D printing entire cities But what is the real potential of 3D printing for architects This issue focuses on another strand of 3D printing practice emerging among architects operating at a much smaller scale that is potentially more significant Several architects have been working with the fashion industry to produce some exquisitely designed 3D printed wearables Other architects have been 3D printing food jewellery and other items at the scale of the human body But what is the significance of this work And how do these 3D printed body scale items relate to the discipline of architecture Are they merely a distraction from the real business of the architect Or do they point towards a new form of proto architecture like furniture espresso makers and pavilions before them that tests out architectural ideas and explores tectonic properties at a smaller scale Or does this work constitute an entirely new arena of design In other words is 3D printing at the human scale to be seen as a new genre of body architecture This issue contains some of the most exciting work in this field today and seeks to chart and analyse its significance Contributors include Paola Antonelli MoMA Francis Bitonti Niccolo Casas Behnaz Farahi Madeline Gannon Eric Goldemberg MONAD Studio Kyle von Hasseln 3D Systems Culinary Lab Rem D Koolhaas Julia Krner Neil Leach Steven Ma Xuberance Neri Oxman MIT Media Lab Ronald Rael and Virginia San Fratello Gilles Retsin Jessica Rosenkrantz Nervous System and Patrik Schumacher Zaha Hadid Architects Circular,1922 Routledge Handbook of Smart Built Environment Weisheng Lu,Chimay J.
