A Tree For Jason:

A Tree for Jason Jessi Hammond,2014-12-07 My brother Jason is five years old The doctor said this will probably be his last Christmas He can see this tree from his window Please help me decorate it for him A simple sign written in Texta hanging on a pine tree in a park Lauren sees it on the way home from work She is the first to answer the call Others follow and the pine tree soon becomes a beacon of hope for families doing it tough Soon the tree is a riot of decorations But for some the tree is more than a community project For some it will change their lives forever A heartwarming tale of the spirit of Christmas and the power of community

Everybody Knows What a Tree Is Jason Gruhl,Genj? Yorke,2021-09-05 This is a book about wonder and about questioning what we think we know By the time we become adults we think we know quite a lot Facts and theories all prop up our idea of the world and how it should work but do we really know or are we just trying to make ourselves feel secure In Everybody Knows What a Tree Is children talk their way through what they think they know the uses for trees the fun to be had and the amazing scientific facts about them But in contrast the animals have a different language and experience for talking about trees Over time the children begin to question their knowledge and they look to their senses But when this too breaks down they are ultimately led to wonder what the experience of a tree is for itself a truly magical question Knowledge is important for many reasons for understanding and solving problems for building new concepts and creations and for describing how our world works But wonder allows us to interact with the world as it actually is before the labels definitions and rules get laid on top Ultimately the book asks us to be comfortable with NOT knowing It invites us to remember that life is ultimately a mystery and that not having an answer is an answer itself

Language and Cultural Practices in Communities and Schools Inmaculada M. García-Sánchez,Marjorie Faulstich Orellana,2019-09-09 Drawing on sociocultural theories of learning this book examines how the everyday language practices and cultural funds of knowledge of youth from non dominant or minoritized groups can be used as centerpoints for classroom learning in ways that help all students both to sustain and expand their cultural and linguistic repertoires while developing skills that are valued in formal schooling Bringing together a group of ethnographically grounded scholars working in diverse local contexts this volume identifies how these language practices and cultural funds of knowledge can be used as generative points of continuity and productively expanded on in schools for successful and inclusive learning Ideal for students and researchers in teaching learning language education literacy and multicultural education as well as teachers at all stages of their career this book contributes to research on culturally and linguistically sustaining practices by offering original teaching methods and a range of ways of connecting cultural competencies to learning across subject matters and disciplines

Please Don't Let Me Be the Oldest Mom in the PTA Sharon O'Donnell,2018-07-10 Motherhood is not what it used to be as more moms than ever before are having children later on in life This is the must have book for all moms who had a child after the age of 35 a group the medical profession not so kindly calls advanced maternal age Sharon O'Donnell writes about the humorous and poignant stories of having a child at 38 and how she discovered that breastfeeding and AARP membership aren't really all that far apart Sharon says being a mom of a certain age can be tough and rewarding and rather alarming when you realize that all the TV programs you watch have commercials for incontinence or the Scooter Store

Jason's Quest Daniel Ozro Smith Lowell, 1893 Winter Kill J. R. Parker, 2001-12 Western For Jason Locke the ranch on the Green River is the realization of a dream a chance to hang up his guns and build a new life For Wiley Carr it is the home he never had For Avram and Sarah Kleinfeld escaping the atrocities of Eastern Europe it is a sanctuary and a place of renewed hope For Wes and Dorinda Corning it represents a chance to steal a stake to further their ambitions And for John Drayton it is a time of soul searching and decision To add to the struggle all of them must face the savage Wyoming winter
