Court Observation Paper

17 November 2015

On November 16th, 2015 at 11:30 am in Rockville, CT, I attended a series of criminal trial hearings at Rockville Superior Court. I was very excited about the opportunity to witness a live trial, due to the fact that I have never experienced such an event before. Coming in, I had certain expectations about the courtroom based on how media portrayed the justice system on television and in movies. Some expectations were met, though I did not have very many. Although my experience was brief and not representative of the justice system as a whole, I was able to get a good glimpse into the system.

The moment I got out of my car and took a look at the outside of the courthouse, I was pleased by the official visual aesthetics, including the American and Connecticut flags. I was met at the top of the steps by a security guard and metal detector, which I successfully made through. I then asked the guard if there were any trials currently in session and he told me of two. One trial dealt with habeas corpus proceedings and one with criminal proceedings. He jokingly said I would be bored at the habeas corpus trial and advised me to go to the criminal trial. I walked through the courtroom doors and noticed that the trial was already in session. I sat down in the pews and began to observe my surroundings. The judge was at the front and center of the Annual Report of the Massachusetts Commission on Mental Diseases of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for the Year Ending ... Massachusetts Commission on Mental Diseases, 1937 Administrative Courts in Indonesia Adiaan Bedner, 2021-09-06 In 1991 Indonesia introduced a system of administrative courts that was to contribute to establishing the rule of law in Indonesia and to provide recourse for citizens against unlawful administrative behaviour This book evaluates the performance of the administrative court system It explains why the courts were established in spite of the Indonesian state s authoritarian nature and why and to what extent the system is a Dutch legal transplant It analyses the jurisdictionary powers of the courts and how the courts have used them It then proceeds to explain the unbalanced nature of the record presented by analysing factors inside and outside the administrative court organisation which influence its performance These include budgetary deficits lack of training opportunities career manipulation corruption lack of government support and many other non legal issues Finally the author provides a number of recommendations for change many of which may also be of use to other developing countries

First [second and Final] Report[s and Minutes of Evidence ... with Appendices and Index] of the Commissioners Great Britain. Royal Commission on Delay in the King's Bench Division,1913

The Framework of Criminal Justice Michael King,2023-03-31 In The Framework of Criminal Justice originally published in 1981 the criminal justice process is analysed by using six models each of which expresses a different justification for criminal justice and punishment the due process model exacting justice between equal parties the crime control model punishing wrong and preventing further crime the bureaucratic model controlling crime and criminals the medical model rehabilitating offenders the status passage model publicly denouncing the crime and criminal and the power model maintaining domination by the ruling class and reinforcing class values The study examines the formal rules and procedures of the magistrate court system within the context of these models and also discusses the roles of the actors police defendant magistrate court clerks and lawyers Next the study depicts eight scenes that occur from the defendant s arrest through a court hearing to sentencing It assesses how closely the activity and behaviour within the system follow the formal protections granted by the British system of justice and it concludes that the process is far more complex and the rules far more open to interpretation than is commonly believed The book suggests that this miscalculation has led to the failure of various reforms special attention is given to the Bail Reform Act of 1976 and two sections of the Criminal Law Act of 1977 It further suggests that real reform must depend upon an understanding of the political nature of the criminal justice system
