

CONFLICT RESOLUTION

But it's not just about who's right or wrong, and they have their own feelings too.

Being open to different solutions and considering everyone's feelings helps you find a solution that works for everyone.

scenario with two different sides.

Each side has its own reasons for what they want. You'll need to listen carefully to each other and work together to find a solution that works for both of you.

SCENARIO: CARPOOLING

You are grown-ups now! You and your carpool buddy have different ideas about what time to leave for work each day.

THE LISTENER

You pay attention to what others are saying. This helps you understand their feelings and what they want.

Think of a time when listening helped you solve a problem.

UNDERSTANDING

Sometimes, we have to do things we don't want to do. But when we understand what others want, we can find other ways to solve the problem.

Depending on why he was late, Liam's teacher could have different ideas about how to handle it.

Scenario 1

- Ask Liam to lead a class project.
- Let him plan a class game or celebration.
- Suggest he take a timeout if he's feeling frustrated.

HOW BIG IS THE PROBLEM AND HOW LONG DOES IT LAST?

Before you try to solve a conflict, it's important to know how big the problem really is.

Some conflicts are small and can be solved on your own. Others are too big to solve on your own.

Let's look at three types: big, medium, and small.

BIG CONFLICT	These are the most serious conflicts. They often involve safety or health and need to be solved quickly.
MEDIUM CONFLICT	For these conflicts, you need to talk to someone else to help you solve the problem.
SMALL CONFLICT	These are the least serious conflicts. They can often be solved on your own.

COMPRO

Sam and Lily both want to sit in the front of the car. How do you think they will feel if they can't?

Alternative 1: Taking Turns
Sam sits in the front one day and Lily sits in the front the next day.

Alternative 2: Splitting the Front
They agree to split the front seat. Sam sits in the front for the first half of the trip and Lily for the second half.

How do you think it will work?

Compromising is different from collaborating. In compromising, both people give up something. In collaborating, you find a solution that works for everyone.

COLLABORATING

This is the classic win-win solution.

Collaborating means you work together to find a solution where everyone's needs are met.

Alex and Jamie both want to play the same game. How could Alex deal with Jamie's wants but also take care of his own?
