Have you ever heard of an amphibian? Even though amphibians have a long name, they are more common than you'd think. Amphibians are small animals. You may recognize amphibians such as frogs, toads, salamanders, and newts. There are over 7,000 species of amphibians.

These animals are cool-headed and "cold-blooded." Their skin feels slimy. The outside temperature is similar to the animal's internal. They live in environments that are wet. Amphibians are players that live on land, in water, and in the air. They would need gills to breathe underwater. Amphibians are born in the water. They start developing their lungs when they are on land. Amphibians live in their environment in order to survive.
