

CHAPTER 3: METHODOLOGY OF RESEARCH

Research Design

A qualitative study methodology was used to verify the theoretical research on all the women who had been sexually assaulted. Keith Punch defines qualitative design as "empirical analysis in which the analysis is not in the form of descriptive statistics".

It entails the systematic gathering and analysis of a wide range of analytical materials – case study, personal experience, introspective, life story, interview, anecdotal, historical, interactional, and visual texts – that illustrate routine and troublesome moments and meanings in people's lives. Denzin and Lincoln (Denzin and Lincoln, 2005:2)

Researchers who are using this method would like to gather more facts to get a more comprehensive idea of conflicts, instances, or occurrences (Arora and Stoner 2009).

This is often associated with case studies, in which the research was conducted solely on the basis of interpretation or experience with no outside impact.

In this study, a case study design has been used.

A qualitative case study is a research method that aids in the analysis of a phenomenon within a specific context using a variety of data sources and a variety of lenses in order to expose multiple aspects of the phenomenon (Baxter & Jack, 2008).

This design was applied since it's only focused on Women's who had been Sexually Harassed. In contrast to descriptive analysis, qualitative research builds an in-depth, contextual comprehension of the case by drawing on various data sources (Yin, 2003).

In addition, researchers used a case study to conduct an investigation into the effect of sexual harassment on women.

Developing Disaster Resilient Housing in Vietnam:

Challenges and Solutions Tuan Anh Tran,2015-12-21 This book provides a comprehensive understanding on disaster resilient housing within the Vietnam context particularly and the developing world generally The book has identified the root causes of housing vulnerability restrictions to safe housing development concepts of disaster resilient housing key issues factors implementers and building designers need to consider and ways of achieving resilient housing outcomes in actual design projects The design and development of disaster resilient housing has been framed into three main themes i community consultation ii the role of built environment professionals and iii design responses for resilience To achieve these themes there is a variety of contextual and intervening conditions that need to be addressed and met to provide an enabling environment for promoting disaster resilient housing These three themes are among the most arguable issues in recent debates and discussions academically and practically regarding disaster risk reduction and safe housing development In addition this book also provides the evidence based design framework for disaster resilient housing upon which design ideas and solutions for safe and resilient housing can be generated and shaped

Unwrapping Transcultural Romantic Love

Relationships Claude-Hélène Mayer,2023-06-01 This research study explores the interlinkages of three major themes namely transcultural romantic love relationships TRLRs sense of coherence SOC and identity development ID in individuals who are presently involved in romantic love relationships RLR with partners from different cultural or ethnic backgrounds The study uses a qualitative research design within the hermeneutical interpretative research paradigm aiming to understand the interlinkages of TRLR SOC and ID Based on purposive and snowball sampling techniques the study includes 22 participants 12 female and 10 male between 23 and 68 years of age from 14 different self defined cultural backgrounds At the time of the interview participants had been in TRLRs for at least 6 months to a maximum of 26 years Data were collected through semi structured interviews and analysed through content analysis Qualitative quality criteria and ethical considerations were applied The findings show that TRLRs are firmly based on relationship qualities strong feelings common actions spirituality and future orientation Further the findings present clear interlinkages between TRLR and SOC contributing positively to meaningfulness manageability and comprehensibility Finally TRLRs support SOC on intrapersonal cultural and interpersonal levels In addition they influence the development of identity awareness actions feelings and sexual SOC Conclusions limitations and recommendations for theory and practice are provided

Completing Your Qualitative

Dissertation Linda Dale Bloomberg,Marie Volpe,2008-01-24 Completing your Qualitative Dissertation fills an important gap in the qualitative research literature by specifically addressing the fast growing practice of qualitative postgraduate dissertations in colleges and universities throughout the world Many students struggle to complete qualitative research projects because the research itself is inherently messy To address this challenge the authors have distilled decades of experience into a first of its kind highly practical reference for graduate students At the heart of the book is a series of chapters that models the typical progression of a dissertation Each chapter is illustrated by examples that give the reader an understanding of what the actual write up would look like Emphasis throughout the book is on conceptual understanding as it relates to the practical aspects involved in navigating the dissertation process The Quantitative Approach in Political Science Scott Bennett,1986 Providing students with a verbal description of the quantitative research process this work makes selective use of the formal symbolism of mathematics and statistics The text is intended for use in year long introductory courses in political science quantitative research methods Managing E-Crm Towards Customer

Satisfaction and Quality Relationship Abu Bakar Abdul Hamid,Seyed Bahaedin Mousavi,Bamdad Partovi,2019-03-20 Electronic customer relationship management ECRM is a comprehensive business and marketing strategy for attracting and retaining customers over the internet The proliferation of ECRM and its alarming failure rate call for a better understanding of the relationship between ECRM and its immediate objective Based on the literature reviewed there are few studies that have used service quality as a component of relationship quality in the relation between ECRM and customer satisfaction The study investigates the influence of three components of ECRM i e pre purchase at purchase and post purchase ECRM on customer satisfaction directly and through mediating variable relationship quality A quantitative methodology using a cross sectional survey method was used to investigate the relationship between variables Innovation Partnerships Between Small and Large Firms: Possibilities and Threats Walter M. Jenny,2007 A Hypothetical Enhanced Renewable Energy Utilization (EREU) Model for Electricity Generation in Thailand Thomas Andexer,2008-10-29 Master s Thesis from the year 2008 in the subject Environmental Sciences grade Passed Assumption University of Thailand College of Internet Distance Education CIDE School of Business Administration course Master Thesis Project language English abstract This thesis presents a research project entitled A Hypothetical Enhanced Renewable Energy Utilization EREU Model for Electricity Generation in Thailand This research is motivated by Thailand s rapidly increasing electricity consumption caused by the country s long standing above average economic growth Consequently the rising electricity demand can only be satisfied by continuously growing electricity imports and thus creating a significant burden to Thailand s national budget Further more Thailand is heavily dependent on natural gas reserves for electricity generation however these are expected to be depleted within only three decades and global price levels for conventional fuels are increasingly volatile with an ascending tendency as well Therefore Thailand faces an urgent need to strategically plan for the broad utilization of domestic renewable energy resources which is essential for a more diversified and thus sustainable electricity generation as well as for the nation s endeavor to become an energy hub within the South East Asian region Under these circumstances this research conducts a comprehensive literature review regarding the past development as well as the current situation of renewable energy utilization in Thailand which concludes in the identification of the importance of renewable energy in the given context and closes with both a distinctive need assessment and a conceptual framework for Thailand's future renewable energy strategy. Subsequently, the research introduces a unique primary research endeavor in the form of an explorative expert interview survey which succeeds in a substantial collection of qualitative and in-depth data. These valuable data are first objectively analyzed and second subjectively interpreted and summarized to become the major source for the derivation of a multitude of potential strategic recommendations for an enhanced future renewable energy utilization development in Thailand. Finally, the entirety of these recommended strategic approaches based on both the secondary and primary research are assembled to develop the Enhanced Renewable Energy Utilization (EREU) model for electricity generation in Thailand as the fundamental finding of this thesis and research project respectively.

Program scheduling and simulation in an operating system environment bernard lampard, 2014-02-03 Research Paper postgraduate from the year 2011 in the subject Computer Science Commercial Information Technology grade A Massachusetts Institute of Technology language English abstract CPU scheduling is a technique used by computer operating systems to manage the usage of the computer's central processing unit. In a multi-programming environment whereby several processes are running on the same processor, it is essential to use scheduling criteria to avoid collisions in the computer's operations. This will help users in a given information technology-oriented firm to share server spaces and resources like printers and file storage spaces. In the multi-tasking environment, a program called CPU scheduler selects one of the ready processes and allocates the processor to it. There are a number of occasions when a new process can or must be chosen to run. When a running process blocks and changes its state to Blocked. When a timer for a running process expires. When a waiting process unblocks and changes its state to Ready. and When a running process terminates and changes its state to Exit. Wikipedia 2013. Different types of scheduling programs referred to as algorithms can be employed in CPU scheduling instances. Among the most popular scheduling algorithms is Shortest Job First (SJF). SJF gives the processor to the process with the shortest next time allocation known as the burst. If there are processes with similar CPU bursts in the event queue, the scheduler uses First Come First Served algorithm which allocates the first process to arrive in the queue to the processor regardless of its burst time. It operates under the assumption that the length of the next CPU burst of each of the processes in ready queue is known. CPU scheduling 2013. The SJF algorithm can be used in both pre-emptive and non-pre-emptive methods. The algorithm can be pre-emptive or not. Shortest Job First with pre-emption uses priority measure to determine the next process to be given the CPU. The processes will be having different CPU bursts and different priority levels allocated to them. The process with the least priority magnitude is always picked next. A process already allocated the processor can be pre-empted the CPU and allocation done to another process with higher priority when such a process arrives in the queue. SJF with non-pre-emptive operates in the normal procedure whereby the job with the least CPU burst in the waiting queue is always picked next for allocation of the CPU and the rest of the processes have to wait no matter their urgency. Based on the introduction above, it is essential to use the right CPU scheduling strategy to help us achieve Olympic Games Ceremonies. An Event Management Perspective John Jossifakis,2014-07-14 Master s Thesis from the year 2014 in the subject Communications Public Relations Advertising Marketing Social Media grade 7 5 Leeds Metropolitan University Carnegie course Masters in Event Management language English abstract The major purpose of this study is to analyse the major impact that an Olympic Games ceremony has on the branding of a city and of a nation looking to take the current level of research and improving on this with an enhanced analysis of the subject using a case study approach The study has focused on one main research question What is the impact of an Olympic Ceremony on the image of a host city This question was further explored with three core components which were analysed and which included the discovery of the extent to which an Olympic Games ceremony could help to create an image of a specific city country the importance ascribed to Olympic Games ceremonies and how they are deemed to be vital in leading to rising tourist numbers as well as a consideration of the major short and long term socio economic impacts of an Olympic Games ceremony on a host city The Role of Industrialization for Urban Development in Bole Lemi Industrial Park Emebet Hailemichael,2020-07-17 Master s Thesis from the year 2019 in the subject Geography Earth Science Demographics Urban Management Planning grade 95 5 Ethiopian Civil Service University College of Urban Development and Engineering course Urban Management language English abstract This study has investigated the role of industrialization for urban development specifically socio economic development and environmental effect in Addis Ababa by using descriptive research design Primary and secondary data were collected through multiple data gathering tools i e questionnaire interview observation and document review and probability and non probability sampling methods were applied The collected data was analyzed through narration and descriptive analysis method Bole Lemi IP has played role in achieving social development of the urban community through the provision of infrastructure and services to the previously underserved community But the social development opportunity brought by this industrialization is unequal since communities living around the IP are still deprived of basic services and infrastructure This is due to lack of integration between industrialization and urban development The relocated households have been introduced with structural change in their way of life however they become exposed to the risk of impoverishment Even if part of the urban community i e relocated households has become vulnerable to economic hardship and industrial employees remained the working poor the IP is playing significant role for economic development To boost the role of industrialization for holistic urban development creating strong integration between industrialization and urban development and building synergy between different government institution and their goals is a must This is because swinging together with different feathers is not the choice that can be made it is obligatory instead The Economic & Profitability Impact of Mergers & Acquisitions among Banks in Lebanon Rami Saleh,2013-05-08 Doctoral Thesis Dissertation from the year 2009 in the subject Business economics Banking Stock Exchanges Insurance Accounting grade A language English abstract A study of the impact of mergers and acquisitions

The attractiveness of South Africa as offshore destination for call centre services Anita Hintringer, 2013-06-26 Master's Thesis from the year 2012 in the subject Business economics Miscellaneous grade 1.0 language English abstract This research report is entitled An investigation into the attractiveness of South Africa as offshore destination for call centre services to the UK An important objective of this research report was to investigate the factors and key issues that determine South Africa's attractiveness to deliver offshore call centre services to the UK largely from the perspective of existing call centre outsourcers with their recent and first hand experience and expertise in this industry The ultimate objective was to determine the attractiveness of South Africa for UK call centre offshoring To achieve the above it was determined that a combination of qualitative investigative research combined with a quantitative approach would be conducted with data gathering Primary research was done by conducting in depth interviews with individuals holding management positions with established call centre outsourcers in South Africa to determine the attractiveness of the location Overall it was found that South Africa is averagely attractive for UK call centre service offshoring Outsourcers highlight that at present offshoring is because of the global economic climate a very difficult market to be in However if South Africa addresses challenges successfully e.g skills shortage in middle management it can build the right foundation to grow the industry for the future

The location is attractive as it offers cost savings when compared to the UK client market but other locations outperform South Africa in this respect Therefore the location is only attractive for a UK niche market as a cheaper but nonetheless premium location that delivers additional benefits relevant to UK business which other locations do not offer These can be found in service delivery and quality and South Africa s alignment with Western industry standards
