Student Loan DL program supported an estimated 33.1 billion in new loan volume. Several types of loans are available: Federal need-based subsidized Stafford loans under which the government pays the interest while the borrower is in school; a grace period of deferment; unsubsidized Stafford loans; Federal PLUS loans for parents of undergraduate students; and Federal Consolidation loans. Overall student loan volume has been increased in recent years from 24 billion in FY1994 to 33 billion in FY2000. The number of loans being made has increased over the same period going from 6,483,000 to 8,618,000. The average amount that individual students are borrowing in any given year has not increased as dramatically. This new book examines important issues related to this cornerstone of American higher education. Your Federal Student Loans: Learn the Basics and Manage Your Debt. U.S. Department of Education, 2014-05-12. When you're considering college or some form of education after high school, financial aid almost always comes to mind. While you have the primary responsibility of paying for college, sometimes those funds just aren't enough, and you need to look at other resources. The U.S. Department of Education provides more than 150 billion in federal student aid grants, work study, and loans each year to students seeking a postsecondary education, a degree after high school. About 14 million students currently receive federal student aid, with a majority receiving federal student loans. In addition to federal student aid, financial aid is also available from colleges, companies, private scholarship funds, or the state in which you live. So there are resources to help you pay for college, but you have to utilize them. As you explore your financial aid options, make sure to consider federal student loans. These loans are a possibility for everyone because not all federal student loans are based solely on financial need. If you have any questions or concerns about getting a federal student loan, then make sure to review this publication.

Financial Aid and Loans for Students Crash Course IntroBooks, 2019-12-21. Different schools have different policies regarding how they offer financial aid to students. A student seeking financial aid from any particular institution will therefore do well to stay abreast of information about that particular institution and its regulations regarding financial aid. Each of these schools has different aims regarding how much of student financial needs they are willing to meet. While some schools like Columbia University intend to meet 100% of the student's needs financially, some other schools go less. Grants are given to students without repayment. The amount of grant varies based on the level of education and also the complexity of the study work or project. In the case of New York University, for example, grants provided only meet 68% of the student's needs; this means the student may experience a budget gap. This same school gives most of its aid to its students in the form of loans, which the student is expected to pay back after graduation. Some conditions also determine how much of the student's needs the school can meet. A student with solid academic performance, for example, can benefit from a higher percentage of financial aid compared to another student not having such performance. Some other schools consider the financial strength of the student or that of his/her parent when offering financial aid. However, a school like Columbia University mentioned earlier does not utilize such a measure to determine who to give a student loan and who not to give. They give their students aid.

based on merit alone It translates to the fact that even Bill Gate s son can get student aid based on merit in this school There are several other schools in the same category some of such schools offering their students merit aid are Brown University Pomona College Amherst College Williams College Princeton University and Massachusetts Institute of Technology In calculating merit award the institutions concerned would consider the percentage discount off tuition Private colleges offer average tuition discount of 33 5% this means a student can end up paying only 19 650 if the actual tuition fee is 30 000 The cut represents 33 5% of the actual fee In public college on the other hand the student is given just 15% cut off the actual price When seeking for school financial aid the school can give the student verbal assurance but this is never enough The best guide a student can have regarding financial aids is the Common Data Set Each of the schools in the united states has a Common Data Set it is an amazing document more or less a treasure trove of statistics on the characteristics valued by the school in its application retention freshmen class profile and enrollment The document will equally show the number of students requiring financial aid from the institution concerned as well as the number of students that are given Furthermore the document reveals information about the percentage of student s needs the institution can meet how the awards are split between loans and grants as well as what average package is worth The student can easily search the major search engines for Common Data Set specific for any school The internet can reveal information about in house scholarship and college aids for easy access Such information can equally reveal if a student is qualified for financial aid or not Some schools like Baylor University provide scholarship calculator on their website which helps the student check eligibility for any particular scholarship program related to the school Eligibility for any scholarship is usually determined by the class rank of the student as well as his her ACT or SAT score

Federal Student Loans Made Under the Federal Family Education Loan Program and the William D. Ford Federal Direct Loan Program David P. Smole,2013-03-13 The William D Ford Federal Direct Loan DL program authorized under Title IV Part D of the Higher Education Act of 1965 HEA as amended is the primary federal student loan program administered by the U S Department of Education ED The program makes available loans to undergraduate and graduate students and the parents of dependent undergraduate students to help them finance their postsecondary education expenses The following types of loans are currently offered through the DL program Subsidized Stafford Loans for undergraduate students Unsubsidized Stafford Loans for undergraduate and graduate students PLUS Loans for graduate students and the parents of dependent undergraduate students and Consolidation Loans through which borrowers may combine multiple loans into a single loan For FY2013 ED estimates that 22.5 million loans not including Consolidation Loans totaling 120.8 billion will be made to students and their parents through the DL program Until July 1, 2010 Subsidized Stafford Loans, Unsubsidized Stafford Loans, PLUS Loans, and Consolidation Loans were also available through the Federal Family Education Loan (FFEL) program authorized under Title IV Part B of the HEA The SAFRA Act, part of the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010 (H.C.E.R.A.), P.L. 111-152, terminated the authority to make new loans under the FFEL program after June 30, 2010 While new loans may no longer be made through the FFEL program, approximately 289 billion in FFEL program loans are outstanding and are due to be repaid over the coming years FFEL and DL program loans are low interest loans with maximum interest rates for each type of loan established by statute Subsidized Stafford Loans are unique in that they are only available to undergraduate students demonstrating financial need With certain exceptions, the federal government pays the interest that accrues on Subsidized Stafford Loans while the borrower is enrolled in school on at least a half-time basis during a six-month grace period thereafter and during periods of authorized deferment Unsubsidized Stafford Loans and PLUS Loans are available to borrowers irrespective of their financial need and borrowers are responsible for paying all the interest that accrues on these loans FFEL and DL program loans have terms and conditions that may be more favorable to borrowers than private and other non-federal loans These beneficial terms and conditions include interest rates that are often lower than rates that might be obtained from other lenders, opportunities for repayment relief through deferment and forbearance, loan consolidation, and several loan forgiveness programs In the recent years, numerous changes were made to the terms and conditions of DL program loans The Budget Control Act of 2011 (B.C.A.), P.L. 112-25, eliminated the availability of Subsidized Stafford Loans to graduate and professional students for periods of instruction beginning on or after July 1, 2012 and terminated the availability of certain repayment incentives for loans made on or after July 1, 2012 The Consolidated Appropriations Act, FY2012, P.L. 112-74, eliminated interest subsidies during the six-month post-enrollment grace period on Subsidized Stafford Loans disbursed between July 1, 2012 and June 30, 2014 The Moving Ahead for Progress in the 21st Century Act (MAP-21), P.L. 112-141, lowered the interest rate from 6.8% to 3.4% on Subsidized Stafford Loans made between July 1, 2012 and June 30, 2013 Also for individuals who are new borrowers on or after July 1, 2013, MAP-21 restricted both the period during which individuals may borrow Subsidized Stafford Loans and the period during which the in-school interest subsidy may be provided to 150% of the published length of their educational program
