

Level 0 Data Flow Diagram (DFD)

Principals of a Level 0 DFD

Level 0 data flow diagrams have the following principals:

- They represent the entire context of a system, and for this reason are often referred to as context diagrams.
- The main process or function of the system is represented as a single process, usually labeled something related to its purpose followed by "System."
- The external entities interacting with the system are depicted around the system boundary (outside the circle), representing people, data sources or other systems.
- Data flows between the external entities and the system, identifying data that is entered in the system, information that is processed as a result and the interaction of specific external entities.
