The Love Letter, Jean Honoré Fragonard, 1776, The Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York.

Jean Honoré Fragonard's The Love Letter is a frivolous Rococo painting from the early 1770s. The painting shows a young woman at a desk in what seems to be her bedroom, tightly grasping a letter and bouquet of flowers. The work is composed of bright, pastel colors, loose brushstrokes, and a central focused use of space that work together to create a unified image.

Upon first gazing at this painting, one is captivated by the bright gold colors surrounding this mysterious woman. The ray of sunshine coming through the window creates a line that immediately puts the viewer's focus on the young woman, making one wonder what she is thinking. Her eyes, being focused on the viewer, along with her coy smile create a mildly sensual feeling. It seems as though she is inviting us in, but her firm grasp on her flowers and letter suggest a level of reluctance. While this could simply be because she wants privacy, it could also be because her letter and flowers are from someone she doesn't want anyone to know about. The expression on her face is flirty and suggestive, hinting that she might have something to hide. While it is difficult to discern the purpose of the dog lying behind her, his expression is definitely not inviting. Rather than being shown sleeping peacefully, the dog has his head raised and paw positioned as if he is in a protective kind of state. This, combined with her expression, make it seem as though this is not an innocent situation, but instead more sensual and risqué.
