approaches are becoming increasingly central to visions of decarbonizing national economies The past few years have seen an increasing number of countries committed to net zero targets preceded by a surge of modelled 1.5 C scenarios envisioning large scale future CDR deployment The prospect of CDR deployment raises new complex socio ecological challenges and presents new deep uncertainties These complexities challenges and uncertainties cannot be investigated using solely the techno economic modelling and environmental risk assessment methods that currently dominate the construction of policy relevant knowledge on CDR Social sciences and the humanities perspectives on CDR are often restricted to instrumental tasks such as investigating public acceptance overcoming social resistance or supporting the development of integrated assessment models There is a need for more diverse investigations of CDR which include not only environmental and techno economic dimensions but also explore key societal complexities challenges and uncertainties Against this backdrop we call for submissions on CDR stemming from perspectives within the social sciences and humanities We encourage novel empirical and theoretical contributions on CDR related policy design or analyses of recent policy developments at sub national national and international levels of governance e.g. in context of climate targets and strategies climate tipping points mitigation deterrence or societal transformations The Suspect Rizwaan Sabir, 2022-03-20 An instant classic Sabir is an inspiration and search at the roadside detentions at the border monitoring by police and government departments and an attempt by the UK military to recruit him into their psychological warfare unit Writing publicly for the first time about the traumatising mental health effects of these experiences Sabir argues that these harmful outcomes are not the result of errors in government planning but the consequences of using a counterinsurgency warfare approach to fight terrorism and police Muslims To resist the injustice of these policies and practices we need to centre our lived experiences and build networks of solidarity and support

The Resettlement of Sex Offenders after Custody David Thompson,Terry Thomas,2017-07-14
Circles of Support and Accountability is a voluntary initiative that assists people with convictions for sexual offences to resettle in the community People leaving prison with such convictions often have difficulties in resettling They carry the burden of the conviction itself which may be both stigmatising and isolating and they are the subject of sex offender register requirements parole and other supervisory conditions Circles of Support and Accountability in the UK started over ten years ago and have slowly spread across the country They work closely with the police and probation services but rely entirely on volunteers prepared to give up their time to work with people often otherwise shunned by communities Circles offer support to the person concerned but also hold them accountable for their future behaviour They aim to ensure there are no more victims This book is based on original research and provides a close up picture of how these Circles of Support and Accountability work in practice It brings together for the first time the voices of all the participants from the offenders and the volunteers through to the Coordinators who link the volunteers to the professionals in the form of the police and probation services The research was commissioned by Circles UK and funded by the Wates Foundation and the University of Leeds School of Law
