

"Sharing economy" is on the rise, with millions of people renting beds, cars, boats and other assets directly from each other, coordinating the transaction via the internet. Technology has reduced transaction costs, making sharing assets cheaper and easier than ever, and therefore possible on a much larger scale. The big change is the availability of more data about people and things, which allows physical assets to be disaggregated and consumed as services. Smartphones with GPS let people see where the nearest rentable car is parked; social networks provide a way to check up on people and acquire additional information; and online payment systems handle the billing.

Which one of the following provides the best summary of the main point of the passage?

- A "Sharing economy" is growing fast due to technology gadgets such as smartphones.
- B "Sharing economy" is growing fast.
- C Technology development has contributed largely to the rise of "sharing economy".
- D "Sharing economy" is the commerce of commodities via the internet.
