

2.2 Slope of a Line

Essential Question How can the slope of a line be used to describe the line?

Slope is the rate of change between any two points on a line. It is the measure of the steepness of the line.

To find the slope of a line, find the ratio of the change in y (vertical change) to the change in x (horizontal change).

$$\text{slope} = \frac{\text{change in } y}{\text{change in } x}$$

1 ACTIVITY: Finding the Slope of a Line

Work with a partner. Find the slope of each line using two methods.

Method 1: Use the two black points. ●

Method 2: Use the two pink points. ●

Do you get the same slope using each method?
