

Catcher in the Rye Study Questions Chapters 10-17

Directions: Be sure to answer all parts of the following questions.

Chapters 10-11

1. Look at the language Holden uses to describe Phoebe and Allie. How does he view them? Give examples of the language he uses.

He describes them with loving, caring words showing that he really cares for and respects them. They are children and I think that evokes a more emotional reaction from him.

2. Look at the language Holden uses to describe the adults he encounters, specifically Bernice, Marty, and Laverne from ch. 10. How does he view them? Give examples of the language he uses to describe the adults in his world.

I think that he uses more harsh and aggressive words when describing adults and he often makes fun of them or talk down about them. This is funny because he often tries to act like an adult.

3. Looking at your answers to the last two questions, what would you say is Holden's general view of childhood? His general view of adulthood? Why is this going to be a problem for him? (Remember, he's now 17).

I think he views childhood as awesome and sort of wishes that he could go and revert back to that innocent state. His view of adulthood is that it is all serious and that it's bad. This is going to be a problem because he already tries to act like an adult and when he rightfully is one it will be bad.

4. Earlier in the book, Holden used the pseudonym Rudolf Schmidt when talking with Mrs. Morrow. Tonight he used the name Jim Steele when talking to the ladies in the Lavender Room. What does Holden's frequent use of fake names show us about him?

I think that the frequent use of fake names shows that he likes to pretend and wants to protect his innocence as Holden Caulfield. He wants to keep the name Holden clean and sort of protected from everything that he does.

4. Read between the lines of Jane's behavior and explain what's been happening in her home. What evidence leads to your conclusion?

I think that her dad is just abusive towards her and likes to boss her around a lot. I say this because she just started crying when he walked by and talked to her.

Chapters 12-13

5. Give two examples from ch. 12-13 showing Holden intentionally withdrawing from people.

He refuses to join Lillian Simmons for a drink and he does do the thing with the prostitute, Sunny.

6. Give two examples from ch. 12-13 of Holden being a hypocrite.

He complains about Ackley even though he visits and talks about several issues. Holden criticized his brother for writing for money even though he likes money.

7. When Holden is talking about his stolen gloves at the beginning of ch. 13 he says, "If you're supposed to sock somebody in the jaw, and you sort of feel like doing it, you should do it. I'm just no good at it though. I'd rather push a guy out the window or chop his head off with an ax than sock him in the jaw. I hate fist fights. I don't mind getting hit so much--although I'm not crazy about it naturally--but what scares me most in a fist fight is the other guy's face. I can't stand looking at the other guy's face, is my trouble..." What's going on here with Holden? What should concern the reader about this passage?

I think that right here he is thinking about how he would kill someone. And this is him being very indecisive because he says he would rather just chop off their head than fist fight because he hates to see people bloody. This is concerning because he says that he would rather just kill someone than fist fight them.
