

The Statistics of Inheritance

How can statistics help predict the traits of offspring?

Why?

The combination of alleles from the parents' genetic material is essential to the survival and evolution of a species. If the combinations of alleles that make up the genetic material in a system are truly random, the laws of statistics can be used to predict what traits the offspring will have. This activity starts with a review of Punnett squares, which in one way or another predictions about simple allelic combinations. Statistics will then be used to make mathematical predictions about the genotypes of offspring.

Model 1 – Punnett Squares

- Consider the beetle species in Model 1.
  - How many phenotypes for melanism color are exhibited in the population?
  - How many genotypes for melanism color are exhibited in the population?
- According to Model 1, which allele, B or b, is the dominant melanism color allele? Justify your answer with specific evidence from Model 1.

The Statistics of Inheritance

14

- The Punnett squares in Model 1 show the possible outcomes for an offspring resulting from the mating of two beetles.
  - Which Punnett square shows a cross between two heterozygous beetles?
  - Which Punnett square shows a cross between a heterozygous beetle and a homozygous recessive beetle?
- Briefly describe how the genotypes inside of the Punnett squares representing the possible outcomes for an offspring are determined.
