Introduction:

It is my pleasure to be teaching U.S. History Since 1877 this year. In United States History Since 1877 students study the history of the United States from 1877 to the present. The course content is based on the founding documents of the U.S. government, which provide a framework for its heritage. Historical content focuses on the political, economic, and social events and issues related to industrialization and urbanization, major wars, domestic and foreign policies, and reform movements, including civil rights. Students examine the impact of geographic factors on major events and eras and analyze their causes and effects. Students examine the impact of constitutional issues on American society, evaluate the dynamic relationship of the three branches of the federal government, and analyze efforts to expand the democratic process. Students use critical-thinking skills and a variety of primary and secondary source material to explain and apply different methods that historians use to understand and interpret the past, including multiple points of view and historical context.

For a brief overview of what we will be studying in class, please visit my webpage. There you will find a variety of resources including: Daily Lesson Plans, Course Year at a Glance, Six Weeks Calendars, Supply List and more. I will also post announcements to my homepage that you may subscribe to via RSS Feeds. My Webpage may be accessed by scanning the QR code in the top right hand corner, or by going to: <http://www.lindsayisd.org/Page/1116>

Teaching Procedures:

Most classes will be conducted as follows:

1. Class starts with a warm-up exercise, usually covering a skill for the current unit or TEKS practice.
2. Class will proceed with the lesson for the day: activities will vary from lectures, class discussions, group work, and projects.
3. Class will usually end with a closure activity: exit ticket, quick-write, or stoplight.
4. Classes can expect about two hours' worth of out of class work per week. (each student has a 45 minute study hall every day, if time is utilized properly students will have little to no "homework")

Classroom Rules:

1. Respect the teacher, yourself, and others.
2. Be in your seat working when the bell rings.
3. Follow direction the first time.
4. Preserve a positive learning environment.
5. Do your best work and turn it in on time.

Grading Policy:

Daily Grades: 50%

Test/Project Grades: 50%

The semester grade will be determined by counting each 6 weeks grade 25% and the semester exam 25%.

Possible Consequences Include:

- Verbal/written Warning
- Written Assignment
- Call Home
- Detention
- Office Referral

What You Need in Class Everyday:

Pen, Paper, Correction Pen

Binder

Textbook and other materials as assigned
