Study Guide

450 In a certain population, the gene for red hair is recessive (rr), while the normal allele is dominant (R). How many alleles do you have for this gene? How many alleles do you have for all the other genes on your chromosomes?

451 In a family, both parents have brown hair and they are both heterozygous for this trait. They have three children, and none have brown hair. What is the probability of producing another child, and what are the chances for the child having the normal hair color?

452 In the same state, you are now just having their 4th child. What is the chance that you will have a child with brown hair? What is the chance that you will have a child with normal hair? What is the probability of the couple offspring having something to do with the probability of having offspring who do not have hair?

453 Mendel is famous for his findings on pea plants. He studied traits such as round seeds, wrinkled seeds, yellow flowers, and green leaves. He also studied the inheritance of pea plants.

454 In the pedigree on each generation of offspring, determine the genotype of each individual. Use the information provided to you to determine the genotype of each individual.

455 In the pedigree on each generation of offspring, determine the genotype of each individual. Use the information provided to you to determine the genotype of each individual.

456 What are the two forms of chromosomes? What are the two main sex chromosomes?

457 In fruit flies, eye color is a sex-linked trait. The gene for red eyes is located on the X chromosome. Red eyes (R) are dominant to white eyes (r).

458 Cross a homozygous red-eyed female fruit fly with a white-eyed male fruit fly.

459 What percentage of their offspring would have red eyes? What percentage of their female offspring would be carriers for red eyes?

460 If you had two children, what does that say about the sex of the children?

461 Provide evidence that this is a pedigree for an autosomal trait, and not a sex-linked trait.

462 Humans can be black, gray, or white.

463 What type of inheritance does this demonstrate? Cross a black and a white. Determine the phenotypic percentages of their offspring.

464 Humans can be black, gray, or white.

465 What type of inheritance does this demonstrate? Cross a black and a white. Determine the phenotypic percentages of their offspring.

466 Human blood types are genetically determined by three alleles: I^A, I^B, and i. Type A and type B are codominant and both type O is recessive. A male has blood type AB and a female has blood type B. They have 4 children. What are the chances that they will have a child with blood type O? What are the chances of them having a child that is also type O? What are the chances of them having a child that is also type O?

467 Which two forms of inheritance patterns does human blood type exhibit?

468 Human blood can be wild-type blue, and red, or albino. The gene for human color is controlled by two alleles on the same chromosome.

469 Cross a heterozygous wild-type blue female with a heterozygous male. What are the chances of their offspring phenotypes? What are the chances of their offspring phenotypes? What are the chances of their offspring phenotypes? What are the chances of their offspring phenotypes?

Includes pedigrees and complex patterns of inheritance (X-linked, multiple alleles, codominance, incomplete dominance).
