Thorp, Alan P. Covich, 2010 The third edition of Ecology and Classification of North American Freshwater Invertebrates continues the tradition of in depth coverage of the biology ecology phylogeny and identification of freshwater invertebrates from the USA and Canada This text serves as an authoritative single source for a broad coverage of the anatomy physiology ecology and phylogeny of all major groups of invertebrates in inland waters of North America north of Mexico Book Jacket The Population Ecology of Interest Representation Virginia Gray, David Lowery, 1996 This examination of lobbying communities explores how interest group populations are constructed and how they influence politics and public policy By examining how populations of interest groups are comprised this work fills an important gap between existing theories of the origins of individual interest groups and studies of interest group influence The population ecology model of interest communities developed here builds on insights first developed in population biology and later employed by organizational ecologists The model s central premise is that it is the environmental forces confronting interest organizations that most directly shape the contours of interest populations After examining the demography of interest organizations in the fifty American states the population ecology model is used to account for variations in the density and diversity of their interest communities the nature of competition among similar interest organizations to establish viable niches and the impact of alternative configurations of interest communities on the legislative process and the policies it produces These empirical findings suggest that the environment of interest communities is highly constraining limiting their size composition and potential impact on politics Virginia Gray is Professor of Political Science University of Minnesota David Lowery is Burton Craige Professor of Political Science University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Human Biology and Health , 1997 Ecology , 1922 5 Steps to a 5 AP Environmental Science, 2014-2015 Edition Linda D.
