CPC Practice Exam 2019-2020 Trivium Professional Coder Exam Prep Team, 2018-09 Costs and productivity in patient-centered medical homes Jerry Cromwell, Leslie Greenwald, 2016-07-28 To address the fragmentation and discontinuities in health care patient centered medical homes PCMHs provide additional care coordination services for an extra management fee with the goal of saving private and public insurers money while improving the quality of care Because empirical evidence showing PCMH financial success is unavailable we use claims data from 312 PCMHs and a matched set of comparison practices to simulate the required reductions in hospital admissions readmissions and other services necessary to achieve statistically detectable savings thresholds We also determine staff coordination time and productivity levels necessary to result in detectable savings Our results indicate that PCMHs will have to generate annual savings between 3 percent and 30 percent depending upon the underlying cost variation per beneficiary number of demonstration practices and the extent of beneficiary clustering within practices Eliminating all readmissions or most non hospital services alone will not achieve required savings even in larger initiatives In order to be cost effective additional physician and nurse time coordinating care will have to be quite productive in reducing costly health services If so this likely will result in substantial profits for highly productive PCMHs
