K. Harman, 1998-07 Need new summary Explorations in Automatic Thesaurus Discovery Gregory Grefenstette, 2012-12-06 Explorations in Automatic Thesaurus Discovery presents an automated method for creating a first draft thesaurus from raw text It describes natural processing steps of tokenization surface syntactic analysis and syntactic attribute extraction From these attributes word and term similarity is calculated and a thesaurus is created showing important common terms and their relation to each other common verb noun pairings common expressions and word family members The techniques are tested on twenty different corpora ranging from baseball newsgroups assassination archives medical X ray reports abstracts on AIDS to encyclopedia articles on animals even on the text of the book itself The corpora range from 40 000 to 6 million characters of text and results are presented for each in the Appendix The methods described in the book have undergone extensive evaluation Their time and space complexity are shown to be modest The results are shown to converge to a stable state as the corpus grows The similarities calculated are compared to those produced by psychological testing A method of evaluation using Artificial Synonyms is tested Gold

Standards evaluation show that techniques significantly outperform non linguistic based techniques for the most important words in corpora Explorations in Automatic Thesaurus Discovery includes applications to the fields of information retrieval using established testbeds existing thesaural enrichment semantic analysis Also included are applications showing how to create implement and test a first draft thesaurus Global Product Development Alain Bernard,2011-05-05 This book of proceedings is the synthesis of all the papers including keynotes presented during the 20th CIRP Design conference The book is structured with respect to several topics in fact the main topics that serve at structuring the program For each of them high quality papers are provided The main topic of the conference was Global Product Development This includes technical organizational informational theoretical environmental performance evaluation knowledge management and collaborative aspects Special sessions were related to innovation in particular extraction of knowledge from patents

Survey of Text Mining Michael W. Berry,2013-03-14 Extracting content from text continues to be an important research problem for information processing and management Approaches to capture the semantics of text based document collections may be based on Bayesian models probability theory vector space models statistical models or even graph theory As the volume of digitized textual media continues to grow so does the need for designing robust scalable indexing and search strategies software to meet a variety of user needs Knowledge extraction or creation from text requires systematic yet reliable processing that can be codified and adapted for changing needs and environments This book will draw upon experts in both academia and industry to recommend practical approaches to the purification indexing and mining of textual information It will address document identification clustering and categorizing documents cleaning text and visualizing semantic models of text Proceedings of the ASME International Design Engineering Technical Conferences and Computers and Information in Engineering Conferences--2005 ,2005 Unesco Thesaurus: Alphabetical thesaurus

Unesco,1977 Survey of Text Mining II Michael W. Berry, Malu Castellanos,2007-12-10 As we enter the third decade of the World Wide Web WWW the textual revolution has seen a tremendous change in the availability of online information Finding information for just about any need has never been more automatic just a keystroke or mouseclick away While the digitalization and creation of textual materials continues at light speed the ability to navigate mine or casually browse through documents too numerous to read or print lags far behind What approaches to text mining are available to efficiently organize classify label and extract relevant information for today's information centric users What algorithms and software should be used to detect emerging trends from both text streams and archives

These are just a few of the important questions addressed at the Text Mining Workshop held on April 28 2007 in Minneapolis MN This workshop the fifth in a series of annual workshops on text mining was held on the final day of the Seventh SIAM International Conference on Data Mining April 26-28 2007 With close to 60 applied mathematicians and computer scientists representing universities industrial corporations and government laboratories the workshop featured both invited and
