Problem:

What question are you trying to answer?

Purpose:

What do you want to do this project?

Hypothesis:

What do you think will happen? Make an informed guess. Show your results in mathematical form (see, diagram, formula, etc.)

Research:

Find and summarize information that is important to your question.

Cite all your sources in your table of contents.

Materials:

List all the materials/equipment you need.

If you constructed any materials, explain this in detail.

Procedure:

Explain step by step what you did in your experiment. Be clear about the sequence of the experiment (the things you did and the order). Be certain that you list changes or any special steps you included in the results. The procedure should be like a recipe. It should be clear and repeatable. Use separate pages and include them in the content.

Data/Results:

Your project MUST include a data table and graph. Make sure that you label your graphs clearly so that the reader can understand them. Refer back to the sample graphs.

The Results section, in paragraph form, what is shown in the data tables and graphs.

Conclusion:

Start with a sentence using Please, in conclusion, etc.)

This section is your evaluation and interpretation of your results. Look over your graphs, charts, tables, or data log and then write what you think the data shows or seems to indicate. You may include your opinion, but it is best to stick to what you might have made mistakes. Negative results are not good if you did not prove your hypothesis, then say so. What would you do differently next time?

Abstract:

The abstract is a shortened version of your entire paper. It should include information about yourself at the top, name, school, grade in school, and subject of your project. Write 1 about paragraphs. Include: the purpose, the procedure, the results, and the conclusion. Use transitions between the information. Include 2. Double check your information. Simply summarize the report. The entire abstract should be about 100 to 150 words and fit on one page. It is easier to write the ABSTRACT after you have written the entire research paper to bring every fact. You should use a graphic organizer to organize information. Use the correct scientific words.

Bibliography:

This is a list of all used three books, magazines, websites, articles, and other communications of sources that you used for conducting your topic and writing your paper. They are written or appeared in this form:
Last name of author, First name, Title of source, Date published, Place published, Publisher, page numbers used.
