The CAMERON T30 Series* fully welded ball valve is a bidirectional, trunion-mounted ball valve with a lightweight spherical body design and superior stem seal design compliant with fugitive emission regulations. The CAMERON T30 Series valve design increases service life, reduces leak paths, and offers optimal resistance to pipeline pressures and stresses.

CAMERON T30 Series valves are available for pressure classes ASME 158 to 2500 (PN 26 to PN 420) as well as API 2000 to 5000 standards. Made of forged steel to ensure uniform fine grain structure and toughness, they can be specified in sizes from NPS 2 to 56 (DN 50 to 1400).

These valves are also fire tested to API and ISO standards.

Superior stem sealing performance

These valves include an adjustable and replaceable seal in an antiblowout stem design. In addition, a low-emissions environmental standard design is also available.

Fully welded with a forged spherical body

The distinctive design of the CAMERON T30 Series valve maximizes strength at reduced weight and improves resistance to pipeline pressure and stresses with less wall thickness. The compact, spherical design also eliminates body flanges, reducing overall size and potential leak paths.

Low maintenance without removing pressure from the pipeline

Designed to eliminate the need for lubrication, the CAMERON T30 Series valve enables maintenance without reducing pressure or removing the valve from the pipeline.

Low cost of ownership

This valve is designed to minimize material for a lower weight, lower costs for installation and transportation, and minimal maintenance, which improves production uptime.

Longer service life

The CAMERON T30 Series valve can be equipped with a mechanism that makes both seat rings rotate at the end of the closing operation. Rotating seat rings are self-cleaning, distribute wear, ensure optimal sealing contact, and facilitate the distribution of any injected flush, grease, or sealant.
