NAEP 1996 Science Report Card for the Nation and the States Christine Y. O'Sullivan,1997 Student Work and Teacher Practices in Mathematics ,1999 Student Work and Teacher Practices in Science Christine Y. O'Sullivan,Andrew R. Weiss,1999 In 1996 the National Assessment of Educational Progress NAEP assessed the knowledge and skills of students in the areas of earth science life science and physical science It also collected information related to the background of students grades 4 8 and 12 their teachers grades 4 and 8 and the schools they attended grades 4 8 and 12 This report is intended primarily for science teachers hence the results presented relate directly to student performance classroom practices and school climate This report also discusses students attitudes and beliefs about science The report is divided into four parts In the first part chapter 1 an overview of the assessment is provided This includes information about the framework used in the development of the assessment a description of how the assessment was administered to students and an explanation of how to interpret NAEP results In the second part chapters 2 3 and 4 examples of questions and student responses are presented These chapters are divided by grade The third part chapters 5 and 6 contains information collected from students teachers and school administrators about classroom practices student motivation and parental involvement in learning Finally the fourth part contains appendices offering a fuller description of the procedures used for the NAEP 1996 science assessment appendix A scoring guides for questions discussed in chapters 2 3 and 4 appendix B and standard errors for the statistics presented in the report appendix C WRM Best Practices for State Assessment Systems, Part I National Research Council,Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education,Center for Education,Committee on Best Practices for State Assessment Systems: Improving Assessment While Revisiting Standards,2010-08-28 Educators and policy makers in the United States have relied on tests to measure educational progress for more than 150 years During the twentieth century technical advances such as machines for automatic scoring and computer based scoring and reporting have supported states in a growing reliance on standardized tests for statewide accountability State assessment data have been cited as evidence for claims about many achievements of public education and the tests have also been blamed for significant failings As standards come under new scrutiny so too do the assessments that measure their results The goal for this workshop the first of two was to collect information and perspectives on assessment that could be of use to state officials and others as they review current assessment practices and consider improvements Technical Issues in Large-scale Performance Assessment Gary W. Phillips,1996 State Assessment Systems National Research Council,Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education,Center for Education,Committee on Best Practices for State Assessment Systems: Improving Assessment While Revisiting Standards,2011-01-02 Educators and policy makers in the United States have relied on tests to measure educational progress for more than 150 years and have used the results for many purposes They have tried minimum competency testing portfolios multiple choice items brief and extended constructed response items and more They have contended with concerns about student privacy test content and equity and they have responded to calls for tests to answer many kinds of questions about public education and literacy international comparisons accountability and even property values State assessment data have been cited as evidence for claims about many achievements of public education and the tests have also been blamed for significant failings States are now considering whether to adopt the common core academic standards and are also competing for federal dollars from the Department of Education s Race to the Top initiative Both of these activities are intended to help make educational standards clearer and more concise and to set higher standards for students As standards come under new scrutiny so too do the assessments that measure their results This book summarizes two workshops convened to collect information and perspectives on assessment in order to help state officials and others as they review current assessment practices and consider improvements
