A Little Local Difficulty:

A National Health Service? John Mohan, 1995-03-20 This book contrasts the proposals of the Royal Commission of the late 1970s with the very different set of priorities enshrined in the 1989 White Paper and describes how the changes between the two documents came about. It argues that the NHS reforms should be seen not as the inevitable product of technical developments nor as a consensus response to narrowly managerial difficulties within the NHS but rather as part of a wider political strategy towards state provision of welfare. The book strongly emphasises the uneven geographical impacts of post 1979 changes, a topic usually underplayed by analysts of social policy and draws heavily on previously unpublished material.

Supermac D R Thorpe, 2010-09-09 Great grandson of a crofter and son in law of a Duke Harold Macmillan 1894-1986 was both complex as a person and influential as a politician. Marked by terrible experiences in the trenches in the First World War and by his work as an MP during the Depression he was a Tory rebel, an outspoken backbencher opposing the economic policies of the 1930s and the appeasement policies of his own government. Churchill gave him responsibility during the Second World War with executive command as Viceroy of the Mediterranean. After the War in opposition Macmillan was one of the principal reformers of the Conservatives and after 1951 back in government served in several important posts before becoming Prime Minister after the Suez Crisis. Supermac examines key events including the controversy over the Cossacks repatriation, the Suez Crisis, You've Never Had It So Good, the Winds of Change, the Cuban Missile Crisis and the Profumo Scandal. The culmination of thirty-five years of research into this period by one of our most respected historians, this book gives an unforgettable portrait of a turbulent age. Shortlisted for the Orwell Prize. Modernity Britain David Kynaston, 2014-12-02 Modernity Britain 1957-1963 continues David Kynaston's groundbreaking series Tales of a New Jerusalem telling as never before the story of Britain from VE Day in 1945 to the election of Margaret Thatcher in 1979.

The Politics of Industrial Closure Steven High, Stefan Berger, 2026-03-24 The Politics of Industrial Closure explores how the political consequences of neoliberal globalization have led to the decline of industrial regions across Western Europe and North America. Co-editors and historians Steven High and Stefan Berger and the team of contributors depict that deindustrialization and its legacies have long-term impacts by diving into its ongoing manifestations and aftermaths. With collaboratively written chapters exploring Italy, France, Germany, the United Kingdom, the United States, and Canada, this volume examines the impacts of deindustrialization demonstrating that it is an uneven geographical spatial and temporal process This study transcends the local and regional investigations that often predominate deindustrialization studies and the wider transnational and cross national perspective of this work highlights the ways that geography matters in the deindustrialization process This collection pursues diverse avenues of investigation into deindustrialization in hopes to understand the deep roots of recent universal and political phenomena The Politics of Industrial Closure considers deindustrialization as yet another form of dispossession within global capitalism and seeks to break out of a unitary understanding of the problem of deindustrialization
