binds to TLR5 and SP3 signaling and then repairs the host epithelium lesion By contrast dietary exposure to mycotoxin aflatoxin b1 has been found to reduce the Roseburia significantly in mice and rat models Green tea polyphenols were found to restore the abundance of Roseburia As the above scientific issues are being explored by global scientists it is time to call for a Research Topic in the field to gather novel findings and new progress We believe this collection will enhance the basis for future gut microbiota research and will surely have more patients benefit from relevant research This Research Topic welcomes Original Research Articles Reviews and Mini reviews Opinions Perspectives and Methods The manuscripts are suggested to be within the following scopes but not limited to 1 Recently discovered change of gut microbiome patterns corresponding to particular liver diseases 2 Novel findings in terms of gut microbiota dependent metabolites or metabolic pathways that contribute to the incidence and mitigation of liver diseases 3 Characterization of specific interaction or crosstalk between gut microbiome species family with host liver system 4 Changes of gut microbiota induced by xenobiotics antibiotics probiotics food contaminants natural products and potential links with the incidence and mitigation of liver diseases 5 Clinical or food application of natural products to manipulate gut microbiota as an alternative medicine to treat liver diseases
