3.1 Design Objectives of the Proposed System

Before designing any computer-based-online system, it is essential and helpful to establish the objectives that the computer based online system should satisfy. In addition, the relative importance of each objective should be established, keeping in mind the drawbacks of the existing system, and other websites for finding the jobs, the following objectives of the proposed system are made.

3.1.1 Efficiency

Efficiency is defined as the degree to which we maximize utilization of resources for achieving an object. The proposed system uses fewer amounts of resources like processor time, memory and network bandwidth. And it is quite efficient and simple then existing system.

3.1.2 Integrity

Access to software or data by unauthorized persons can be controlled. Proposed system fulfills this objective. Proposed system cannot be used by unauthorized users. Only admin can change the application data. And other employees can see only their required data.

3.1.3 Comprehensive Database

The proposed system have comprehensive database in which facilities of which insertion, modification retrieval of records and facilities of various queries and reports are available. For high performance and security MySQL Server is used.
