

FLUID LEAKAGE

• The most common cause of a difference from the user for Safety and Steering Stopper.

It is likely that although one judges fluid leakage, there is actually no leakage. This is because the fluid will always be in maintenance and completely equal off. So one to wipe off spill fluid thoroughly after maintenance.

* Fluid level is specified at optimum position (stop) for ordinary use. Accordingly when the car is used in many cases a hot condition like a very rough road or mountain area, fluid may bleed out from air vent hole of cap. This is not a problem. If a customer complains strongly and is not likely to satisfy for this phenomenon, lower the fluid level so expect the fluid does not bleed out in the above conditions and had best to perform checking of fluid level and fluid temperature more frequently.
