

DSM 5 Criteria for Panic Disorder

The Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders, Fifth Edition (DSM 5) is the standard classification of mental disorders used by mental health professionals in the United States.

The following are the diagnostic criteria for panic disorder according to DSM 5:

1. Recurrent unexpected panic attacks. A panic attack is an abrupt surge of intense fear or intense discomfort that reaches a peak within minutes, and during which time four (or more) of the following symptoms occur:

- Palpitations, pounding heart, or accelerated heart rate
- Sweating
- Trembling or shaking
- Sensations of shortness of breath or smothering
- Feeling of choking
- Chest pain or discomfort
- Nausea or abdominal distress
- Feeling dizzy, unsteady, light-headed, or faint
- Chills or heat sensations
- Paresthesias (numbness or tingling sensations)
- Derealization (feelings of unreality) or depersonalization (being detached from oneself)
- Fear of losing control or "going crazy"
- Fear of dying

Note: Culture-specific symptoms (e.g., tinnitus, neck soreness, headache, uncontrollable screaming or crying) may be seen. Such symptoms should not count as one of the four required symptoms.

2. At least one of the attacks has been followed by 1 month (or more) of one or both of the following:

- Persistent concern or worry about additional panic attacks or their consequences (e.g., losing control, having a heart attack, "going crazy").
- A significant maladaptive change in behavior related to the attacks (e.g., behaviors designed to avoid having panic attacks, such as avoidance of exercise or unfamiliar situations).

3. The disturbance is not attributable to the physiological effects of a substance (e.g. a drug of abuse, a medication) or another medical condition (e.g., hyperthyroidism, cardiopulmonary disorders).

4. The disturbance is not better explained by another mental disorder (e.g., the panic attacks do not occur only in response to feared social situations, as in social anxiety disorder; in response to circumscribed phobic objects or situations, as in specific phobia; in response to obsessions, as in obsessive-compulsive disorder; in response to reminders of traumatic events, as in posttraumatic stress disorder; or in response to separation from attachment figures, as in separation anxiety disorder).

ST MEDICINE IN A CHANGING UNIVERSE AT THE THRESHOLD OF THE 21 CENTURY Hoyle Leigh M D I Professor of Psychiatry San Francisco University of California and Fresno VA Medical Center

INTRODUCTION During my lifetime the universe has changed beyond recognition The universe into 111 which I was born in the first half of the 20 century was still infinite permanent orderly and tranquil a universe that worked like a masterfully constructed clock Matter and energy followed Newton's laws of conservation Shortly after my birth Hiroshima proved with a big bang that matter was no longer permanent everything was relative Einstein had also shown that everything that happened was local that is there was an event horizon beyond which no information could reach as nothing can travel faster than light When I was growing up the moon was for lovers and going there was an impossible dream Cosmologically the Big Bang theory that postulates that the universe was born out of an explosion some 10 15 billion years ago from a primordial point won over steady state It has been expanding ever since although the ultimate fate of the universe is still unknown whether it will keep on expanding resulting in a perpetual state of heat death or will at some point start contracting resulting in a big crunch of gravitational collapse ending in a single black hole out of space time and existence Quantum theory has defeated even Einstein's genius and proven that God indeed plays dice
