Chater 13 Genetic Engineering:

Human Health and Ecological Integrity Laura Westra, Colin Lionel Soskolne, Donald W. Spady, 2012 The connection between environment and health has been well studied and documented particularly by the World Health Organization It is now being included in some legal instruments although for the most part caselaw does not explicitly make that connection Neither the right to life nor the rights to health or to normal development are actually cited in the resolution of cases and in judges decisions This volume makes the connection explicit in a broad review of human rights and legal issues associated with public health and the environment It will be particularly useful as many legal instruments emphasize the right to development without fully discussing the necessary safety and public health aspects and the respect for the ecology of any area where such development often unwanted by local or indigenous communities is to be located Climate change is another pressing variable that is considered and several chapters address the interface between human health and ecological conditions Overall the book integrates perspectives from a wide range of disciplines including ethics ecology public health and epidemiology and human rights and law

Genetic Engineering Fouad Sabry, 2022-10-05 What Is Genetic Engineering The alteration and manipulation of the genes in an organism via the use of technology is referred to as genetic engineering and is also known as genetic modification or genetic manipulation It is a collection of techniques that may alter the genetic make up of cells including the transfer of genes both inside and across species with the goal of producing creatures that are superior to or unique from those that already exist Either by isolating and copying the genetic material of interest using recombinant DNA techniques or by chemically synthesising the DNA new DNA may be created Recombinant DNA methods can be found here In most cases a construct is built and then used for the purpose of inserting this DNA into the host organism Paul Berg created the first recombinant DNA molecule in 1972 by mixing the DNA of two different viruses namely SV40 from monkeys and lambda from lambda viruses The method may also be used to delete genes often known as knocking out genes in addition to introducing new genes It is possible to insert the new DNA in a random pattern or it may be targeted to a particular region of the genome
