The Biology of Mediterranean-Type Ecosystems Karen J. Esler, Anna L. Jacobsen, R. Brandon Pratt, 2018-03-09 The world's mediterranean type climate regions including areas within the Mediterranean South Africa Australia California and Chile have long been of interest to biologists by virtue of their extraordinary biodiversity and the appearance of evolutionary convergence between these disparate regions These regions contain many rare and endemic species Their mild climate makes them appealing places to live and visit and this has resulted in numerous threats to the species and communities that occupy them Threats include a wide range of factors such as habitat loss due to development and agriculture disturbance invasive species and climate change As a result they continue to attract far more attention than their limited geographic area might suggest This book provides a concise but comprehensive introduction to mediterranean type ecosystems It is an accessible text which provides an authoritative overview of the topic As with other books in the Biology of Habitats Series the emphasis in this book is on the organisms that dominate these regions although their management conservation and restoration are also considered

Restoration Ecology Jelte van Andel, James Aronson, 2012-05-21 Enlarged enhanced and internationalized edition of the first restoration ecology textbook to be published with foreword by Dr Steven Whisnant of Texas A M University and Chair of the Society of Ecological Restoration Since 2006 when the first edition of this book appeared major advances have taken place in restoration science and in the practice of ecological restoration Both are now accepted as key components of the increasingly urgent search for sustainability at global national and community levels hence the phrase New Frontier in the title While the first edition focused on ecosystems and landscapes in Europe this new edition covers biomes and contexts all over the world Several new chapters deal with broad issues such as biological invasions climate change and agricultural land abandonment as they relate to restoration science and ecological restoration Case studies are included from Australia North America and the tropics This is an accessible textbook for senior undergraduate and graduate level students and early career scientists The book also provides a solid scientific background for managers volunteers and mid career professionals involved in the practice of ecological restoration Review of the first edition I suspect that this volume will find its way onto the shelves of many restoration researchers and practitioners and will be used as a key text in graduate courses where it will help fill a large void My own copy is already heavily bookmarked and will be a constant source of research ideas and lecture material Environmental Conservation Companion Website A companion website with downloadable figures is available at www.wiley.com/go/vanandel/restorationecology
